- 2009:27 ceramic miniature vessel, cist 1. Acquired from John Palmer no habitat info. This vessel is undecorated. It is a flat bottomed, bipartite vessel with an everted rim. The vessel is dull-brown/grey internally. The ware is course and friable with mica and quartz inclusions in the grit. The vessel is almost complete except for a large chip missing from the rim and neck at one point. The outer surface bears and encrustation of the fill of the cist. H 5.1cm, D rim 7.8cm , D base 2.4 cm. Acquired 1971 but not registered until 2009
- 2009:26 Ceramic bipartite vase. Cist 1. Acquired from John Palmer no habitat info in database. Flat bottomed bipartite vessel with sharply everted rim. The ware is very coarse and friable with visible mica and quarts inclusions in the grit. The vessel is dull grey in colour on the other and inner surfaces, the core is buff streaked. Decoration occurs on the rim and body but not on the base. The ornament is organised in horizontal zones. The rim top bears three parallel rows od D-shaped (thumbnail?) impressions, the two raised areas in between being decorated with radial strokes. A plain area follows below which is a row of D-shaped depressions bordered on the lower side by four false relief edges ornamented with oblique strokes, the upper forming two herringbone patterns. There follows a false relief band decorated with vertical strokes and bordered on either side by a row of Dshaped depressions. This is followed by a row of four false relief ridges decorated with oblique strokes. Bordering this a zone of conjoined D-shaped impressions and a row of individual similar impressions. Defined by a thin groove on each side is a further zone of these impressions. The two lowermost zones are composed or irregular areas in false relief infilled with vertical strokes. H 10.50cm, D rim (ext) 13.9cm, D base 5.5cm T body 1.1cm. Acquired 1971 but not registered until 2009
- 2009:25 Ceramic bipartite vase. Cist 1. Acquired from John Palmer no habitat info in database. Flat bottomed bipartite vessel with everted rim. The ware is coarse and dull grey in colour with traces of mica in the frit. The rim and body are decorated and the base is plain. On the upper surface of the rim the decoration consists of three ridges in false relief decorated with a series of short strokes forming a herringbone pattern. The edge of the rim also bears decoration in the form of herringbone pattern. The ornament of the bodge is arranged in a series of horizontal zones encircling the vessel these will be described in order from neck to base. The neck is decorated with a band of herringbone ornament, defined by an incised groove both above and below. Below this groove from is a row of chevrons in false relief. The lower part of this band is defined by a second row of triangular depressions and the middle portion is infilled with comb-impressions. Below this are two bands of false relief decorated with incised herringbone decoration. This is followed by a further band of herringbone ornament bordered on each side by a thin undecorated band. Below this again is a band in false relief infilled with comb impressions, defined above and below by triangular depressions. Between this and the lowermost band of ornament is a blank space below which occur two bands of vertically disposed comb impressions. H8.60cm, D rim (ext) 11.10cm, D of base 4.2cm. Acquired 1971 but not registered until 2009

A lot of finds in one cave- over a number of years. hard copy file on Dunmore cave has large confidential folder (se I didn't look at this), and a large folder dealing with publicity – newspaper articles and letters to public and schools etc. not a lot of real info in it, basically the thought is that deposits are medieval- Viking. Large number of finds detailed below. Most are old finds and they have recent museum numbers because they were only recently catalogued.

Brownstown

Study of the raths in the area north of Kilkenny city. John Doyle 1981 Brownstown- there is a rath in the upper part of Brownstown, near kyleror, it is fairly well preserved. Surrounded by a wide ditch that fills with water from a spring in the rath. About 50 yards across, quarter of a mile from Bonnettsrath.
